UI Prototype

1. Introduction

1.1 Purpose

This document provides a detailed sketch of the Fitment furnishing ecommerce website with 2 main actors: customer (or guest) and admin. We've created our UI prototype using the Figma tool, showcasing both the interface design and interactions among web components.

1.2 Scope

- The UI Prototype document comprehensively outlines the features embedded within the web application screens.
- Its structure is divided into key sections: Overview, Design System, and User Interface Design & Prototype.
- The Overview section provides a brief description, identifies the target customer, involving various user personas, and clarifies the system's objectives.
- The User Interface Design and Prototype section displays interface visuals, supported by detailed explanations showcasing how different components interact and function together.

2. Overview

2.1 Description

The prototype for an ecommerce website is a visual presentation of the website's user interface, showing the key features and functionalities. It includes the layout, navigation and the designed elements that users will interact with when booking tours, tour operators (freelancers/ companies) acting when publishing and managing tours, and finally admin controlling the operation of the whole system.

2.2 Target users

First, one way to segment the target market for Fitment is by classifying customers based on where they are in their life journey. More importantly, we also segment based on their needs.

- Couple: This target market includes those who start living together and have an empty nest. Couples at this stage tend to have moderate or high budget for quality furniture, seek personalized, space-saving pieces.
- Family: This target market has a multi-generational family who share different routines, needs, and interests. They need products that are sophisticated, simple and easy to use. Products need to be durable and versatile, on top of that, safety features integration is a must for kids and the elderly.

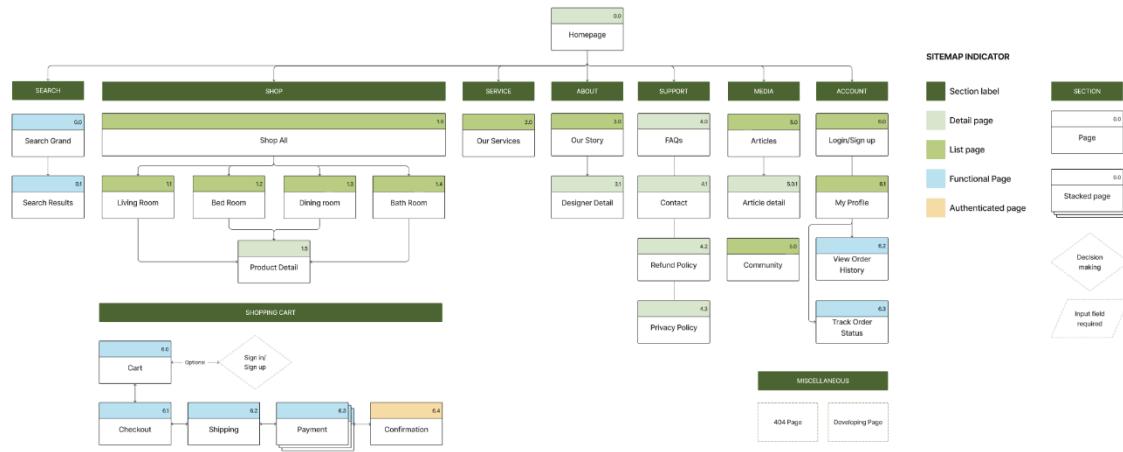

2.3 Objectives

The primary goals of the ecommerce website prototype are to create a user-friendly interface enabling effortless furniture search, browsing, and purchasing. It aims to streamline the checkout process, display a comprehensive product catalog, and ensure secure online transactions. Additionally, the prototype seeks to collect user feedback to enhance and optimize the overall user experience before finalizing the website's development.

Below the header, the main title 'THE ART OF STORYTELLING: TECHNIQUES AND TIPS FOR CREATIVE WRITING STUDENTS' is centered. Underneath the title, the author is listed as 'Written by Oliver Knight on July 16, 2023'. The article content begins with a large image of a modern kitchen. The text is in Latin placeholder text ('Lorem ipsum...'). Below the text, there are two smaller images: one showing hands flipping through a magazine and another showing a person working on a wooden board. The footer features a 'Related Posts' section with three cards, each featuring a thumbnail, a title, and a brief description. The bottom of the page includes a footer with links for About, Shop, Support, Service, Media, and a newsletter sign-up form.
